

Cutting Clause

The following clause should be used on policies covering pipe;

"any pipe broken or cracked at plain end and which would have, after cutting of the damage part plus a margin of 8 inches, a usable length of at least 6 feet for the pipe up to 12 feet, and 9 feet for the pipe over 12 feet length, will be accepted by the consignee.

The underwriter will pay for the usable length only, the cut part remaining the consignee's property in compensation for the cost of cutting and for supplementary joints.

Any pipe broken or cracked at plain end and of which the usable length determined as above will be less than 6 feet for the pipe up to 12 feet length and less than 9 feet for the pipe over 12 feet, also any pipe broken at jointing end which ever be the importance of the breakage, will be for the underwriter's account".
